

Reduced Oxygen Breathing Device 2 (ROBD2) Simulator Accessory Package

The Environics® Series 6202 Reduced Oxygen Breathing Device 2 (ROBD2) simulates altitude exposure and can be utilized for research and training purposes. The ROBD2 is used by the U. S. Navy to train aircrew to recognize the signs and symptoms of hypoxia, to teach appropriate emergency procedures and to conduct hypoxia research.

The ROBD2 Simulator Accessory Package will simplify the set-up of the ROBD2 into your flight training/simulating program. The package was designed to guarantee proper integration of all components with the ROBD2 system. Step by step instructions are provided for connecting the power, audio and video sources, for the SUT, the instructor monitoring the test and additional personnel who wish to observe.

Package Includes:

- Laptop computer with neoprene storage case
- 19" monitor (size is for portability, larger monitors available at an additional charge)
- X-Plane software
- Radio-panel module
- Joystick - throttle package
- 4 place stereo intercom
- Instructor headset with microphone
- Student headphones
- (2) Oxygen masks (1 large, 1 medium) with microphones and amplifiers extended and customized to mate with the ROBD2 and the intercom
- External Speakers for demonstration purposes
- Custom shipping case
- Simulator Accessory Package Operator's Guide

PLEASE NOTE: The ROBD2 is not included with the simulator accessory package and must be purchased separately.
